To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman

[Brimfield, Mass.] The writer says that there are no zealous Abolitionists in her neighborhood. Tells of her experiences with a Virginian visitor, and on a visit to slaveholders in New Jersey, to whom she admitted that she was a Garrisonian. An Abolitionist stayed at her house. Criticises his "noisy declamation." Has great difficulty in overcoming the local prejudice against color. Joined a funeral procession of colored people. Praises their gratitude.

To a friend.

[Nantes, France.] Comments on the attitude of the Americans toward the Declaration of Independence. Is surprised at the comments of Carleton in the letter which his friend forwarded. Doubts that the dispatches sent since the death of the Marquis of Rockingham were made as public as those mentioned by Carleton and Digby. Suggests that the inconsistency may be due to Mr. Fox's "demission and Lord Shelburne's advancement." Has a letter from Mr. W. Blake and another from a friend concerning Blake and commenting on the affairs in America especially in regard to the Loyalists [illegible].S. 3p. 9 x 7 1/2 in.

Note added in William[illegible] handwriting commenting on General Wayne and on the p[illegible] which his friend's son had in the affair.

[Leicester Fields.] Regrets that he could not sail at the time he had planned. Has been writing regularly to him but supposes that the letters have gone astray. Has written also to Mrs. Bromfield and has given the letter to David Green to deliver. Hopes that he can send more news now that he is at New York. Of news in England, he writes that opposition in Parliament seems to be dead and the Declaration of Independence "has convinced many and silenced others". The gentlemen of the M: Council have renewed their applications and he will do what he can for Winslow's interests. Word came that Fort Washington was taken. Hopes that communication can be opened between that place and Canada. Asks him to forward his letters to hi[illegible]s. Mentions General Robinson. A.L.S. 2p. 9 x [illegible]1/2 in.
